

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for providing a retrieval scheme for stored digital images includes providing affective information to classify at least one digital image from a plurality of stored digital images; providing a user identifier; associating the 5 affective information and the user identifier with the at least one digital image; and using the affective information and the user identifier to facilitate retrieval of the at least one digital image.

14
13
12
11
10
9
8
7
6
5
4
3
2
1